

Actively Managing Problem Loans

Comments from past participants

“An engaging and practical seminar!”

– Ms. Nancy Foong Poh Yoke, PT Bank Mandiri (Persero) Tbk, Singapore.
[Class of May 2010]

“By attending this seminar, we gained broader views regarding problem loans, starting from the causes until how to solve it. Moreover, we also learnt how to acknowledge loans that should be avoided at the very beginning. In addition, the seminar gave us a brief overview about local regulator approach to supervising banks in Singapore.”

– Mrs. Paulina J. Rietkamp, Bank Indonesia, Indonesia.
[Class of May 2010]

“The seminar offers a hands-on experience on how to manage problem loans, and it gave me alternative solutions when facing similar situations in the future. As a facilitator, Andrew has successfully explained the material clearly and in an easy to follow manner.”

– Mr. Harry Suswendi, Bank Indonesia, Indonesia.
[Class of May 2010]

“This seminar is well run and it provides a good introduction on the various aspects of managing problem loans. I benefited from the facilitator sharing his vast experience, and the exchange with other participants.”

– Ms. Anita Ng, UniCredit Bank AG - Singapore Branch, Singapore.
[Class of July 2010]

“The Actively Managing Problem Loans seminar was really nice and lively. The facilitator was very experienced and cooperative. At the end of the seminar, the case studies were real life and interesting. The whole session of the seminar was interactive, enjoyable and quite learning.”

– Mr. Gaus-Ul-Wara Md. Mortaza, The City Bank Limited, Bangladesh.

“The training materials were very thorough and covered many aspects that I was expecting from the training. The class was smallish but it was a good thing since all of us were experienced bankers. The highlight has to be sharing the experience from the other countries and learning from past mistakes. Andrew also conducts the seminar in a clear fashion and brings a lot of experience into the mix as well.”

– Mr. Dwi Febriantoko, PT. Bank Mizuho Indonesia, Indonesia.
[Class of November 2010]

Seminar Background

This is an intensive program that covers how to manage Problem Loans, bearing in mind the urgency and the cost involved if they are not handled immediately. Participants will be familiarized with the major causes of problem loans and how to avoid or minimize them.

The seminar also outlines ways to prevent fraud.

Handling problem loans is a very specialized and tedious task and officers need to be specially trained so as to minimize the loss to the bank. Officers will also be taught to be familiar with early warning signals from the borrower, its relation with others and as indicated by its financial statements.

Furthermore, the seminar will also share with participants the action steps to be undertaken once a problem loan is identified. Various alternative actions to handle problem loans are also discussed so as to minimize the time and effort spent. In addition, actions to be undertaken and what to avoid in a workout situation are also discussed. The seminar also provides some of the important lessons learnt from experience.
